

Woodmont West Event

The Woodmont West Apartment Complex was holding a food truck festival for all their residents. As the residents were getting food we had a table set up and a robot out for them to see. When they came around we would talk to them about our team and what we do. The kids who lived there were especially interested in the robot and had a great time spending almost the entire event catching frisbees from it. They were so intrigued by everything the robot could do and had a lot of fun spending time at the event.
